

First Sale of ClearCalm™ Advantage System

CALGARY, AB - (October 31, 2006) - Grayling Wireless USA, Inc. (Pink Sheets: GRYW) announced today the first purchase order for their ClearCalm™ Advantage-S from an industrial customer in Sarnia, Ontario.

Grayling CEO Jeff Love stated “This first purchase provides Grayling and our ClearCalm™ Advantage-S with third party validation. This first sale is the most important milestone our company has attained. I want to offer my profound appreciation to our Technical and Sales & Marketing teams for their tireless efforts. I also want to offer thanks to all of our shareholders for their support and patience in allowing us to reach this exciting new threshold. We look forward to announcing further sales of ClearCalm toward selling out our first commercial production run with deliveries expected in approximately five to six weeks.”

Mr. Love continued “We have put in place the building blocks to provide the solid foundation for future financial success. We have an exceptional management team with the skills, experience and capacity to realize the full potential of the integrated businesses, all of which have excellent knowledge transfer and cross-selling opportunities. We have invested very significantly in our technical know-how and expect, with great confidence that those investments will continue to produce outstanding return as we forge and hold our position of leadership in our target markets. In addition, we will continue to seek out and evaluate worthy acquisitions that are complementary to our financial model and market strategies.”

Mr. Love described Grayling’s business units as such “Our Radio Communications Division comprised of ClearCalm and the recently acquired Stone Mountain is poised to deliver high-margin revenues fueling expansive growth over the coming months and years. Our Software Division, represented by the acquired operating companies of Sentai Software, provides solid baseline revenues and earnings with good potential upside to result from new product releases during the current fiscal year. Our GPS Communications Division will build throughout the year as we direct our focus and attention toward exciting new opportunities in the fleet management sector.

About GRYW:
